WOMAN WANTS $150,000

Case Has Been Tried Once in Secret but Miss McNellis Now Wants to Renew the Suit-Story

Has Leaked Out.

Press from New York says: That Senator William A. Clark, of Montana, the "Copper King" and multi-millionaire, should have been sued by a New York woman in the Supreme Court of this county for $150,000 damages for breach of promise, and that the trial should have been held more than a year ago, and con-ducted with so much secrecy that not a word of it ever reached the ears of the public, may seem strange, but is nevertheless a fact.

theless a fact.

The story was divulged when the first stop was taken by the woman's lawyer to have her case reopened and tried publicly. Her name is Mary McNeills, and she admits that she "is past thirty-six."

Miss McNeills gave her testimony in her suit before James L. Bishop, refere, appointed by the Supreme Count on March 1st, last year. She told of her meeting the Senator at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago. in 1890; of attentions she alleges he subsequently lavished upon her; of bouquets and baslavished upon her; of bouquets and bas kets of fruit and tender missives he sen her.

Senator Clark, who admitted having known Miss McNeills for a long time, denied that he had ever promised to marry her. The Senator is sixty years old, a widower and has five children.

It is now alleged in behalf of Miss McNeills that she was induced to forego a jury trial of her suit on the ground that publicity would hurt her, and that it would be better to try it before a referee and it was accordingly tried before Mr. Bishop.

would be better to try it before a referee and it was accordingly tried before Mr. Bishop.

Pinally, a decision was rendered against her, but she says she was never so informed until the time to appeal had clapsed. Subsequently she was informed an agreement had been reached with Senattor Clark not to appeal the case, and that in accordance with that agreement at the letters and papers in the case had been handed to him. She was also told that Senator Clark would make some settlement with her.

Miss McNellis asserts that although promised money from time to time she never received any. While Miss McNellistime in which to appeal has expired, she wants to make a motion for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence. To-day an application was made to Justice Davis in the Supreme Court to compel the former attorney of Miss McNellist deliver to her all the papers and testimony in order that she may move for a new trial.

The attorney made no appearance and Justice Davis granted the motion by default.

One-Time Favorites Looked Down Upor

Empty Benches Yesterday.
Things are not what they used to be,
Ten or fifteen years ago the mention of George Wilson's name would have been sufficient to have packed to the doors any playhouse in Richmond at which he appeared. Yesterday this once famous minstrel looked out upon empty benches at the Academy of Music, and no doubt thought of the good old days when a sea of faces spread before him when he stepped before the footlights, and a cheer went up that did his heart good. But such is the fortune of those who follow the career of the stage. They are up today and down to-morrow.

SENATOR

TO BE SUED

The audience was sufficient answer to the question. In the small audience there may have been and no doubt were, some of George Wilson's admirers, who remembered the comedian as they knew him in his best days, but their number was not large enough to accord a "reception" to the minstrel when he made his entrance. The performance was very good, though there was nothing unusual in it. The best feature in the clic was the Carl Dammon troupe of acrohats. Bert Swor took second place with George Wilson in furnishing the fun of the evoning. George Wilson was simply himself, a little the worse for wear, but still in the ring.

A Hen and Dog Story.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch)

CLARISVILLE, VA. April 18.—A remarkable hen and dog story was told me the other day, that I think sufficiently so efficiently advocated by The Times-Dispatch. A gentleman and his wife, living on one of our large river plantions, took dinner with me last week and told me substantially the following story: Some six or eight weeks ago he had a pointer find gave birth to eight fine puppes to the story were in an old out lying story. Some six or eight weeks ago he had a pointer find gave birth to eight fine puppes he so were in an old out lying story. The story were in an old out lying the story were in sight. Upon an old hen sitting on the nest where the pupples had been in sight. Upon investigation they were found snugly enseconed beneath the protecting wings of the old hen. One of the strange things about it was, she continued to hover them day and night until increasing age and activity of the pupples rendered it almost impossible. When the evers of the pupples were sufficiently amusing for the old hen, and she had to give up her self-imposed task.

POLITICS IN NOTTOWAY

Situation Rather Uncertain Since Haskins' Withdrawal.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) BLACKSTONE, VA., April 18.-The po litical situation here as regards the unexpired legislative term is still in an uncertain condition. The withdrawal of Colonel Haskins from the contest, as previously reported in this correspondence left only Mayor H. E. Lee, of Crewe, in the field. The election being ordered by the Speaker of the House for the 5th of May, did not give sufficient time in which to hold a primary. Suggestions were made to him to withdraw the writ. Whether or not this has been done is not known at this writing. Since the withdrawal of Colonel Haskins efforts have been made to induce others to enter the race against Mr. Lee, but so far no definite person has been fixed upon to oppose him. It is the prevalling opinion now that he will be the only candidate for the unexpired term but for the regular term, the election for which comes off in November, there will doubtless be more aspirants for the Aspirants for the different county officers, the election for which has been changed by the new Constitution from changed by the new Constitution from May to November, are beginning to loom up already, and the indications at this time point to a warm contest in that field also. It is thought all the present officers will be candidates to succeed-themselves, and it may be that all will have opposition. Some public announcements have already been made.

Very good success is being made towards securing the rights of way for the new railreads from this place to the Soaboard Air Line and from here to Chase City. Originally the two enterprises were under different management, but a short time ago a combination was but a short time ago a combination was effected by which both are under a com mon head. Those behind these enterprises are al mon head.

Those behind these enterprises are all local parties, who recognize the importance of the new connections and the new terrifory to be opened up. An arrangement has been made with a New York trust exampany by which bonds, if they can be satisfactorily floated, for an amount nearly sufficient to construct the road after all the rights of way have been secured. The floating of the bonds is conditioned upon this latter.

Public roads in this section are reported worse than ever known before, it being almost impossible to pass over them in a vehicle in many places. The recent freshet carried away several small bridges in this county, which are now being replaced. Under a policy adopted by the board of supervisors a few years ago all the large bridges are of iron and placed sufficiently high so as to be above the reach of the highest water. There is only one wooden bridge of any size left in the county, and this will doubtless be rebuilt of iron when a new one becomes Decessary)

Session to Be Held the Present Week in the City Hall. Barring a special meeting of the Common Countil to-morrow night and one or two committee meetings later, this will be a dull week about the City Hall. It is just that portion of the month which ands the work all up to date.

As stated in The Times-Dispatch yesterday morning, President Sol. L. Bloomyberg has called a special meeting of the lower branch of the Council for the purpose of concurring in the action of the Board in granting the State of Virginia four rooms on the fourth flor f the City Hall, to be used by the Corporation Commission. finds the work all up to date.

The Committee on Finance will held a number of meetings during the week for the purpose of hearing the petitions of the various liquor men who have petitioned the Council for a rebate from the license tax recently imposed upon them by the committee. It is estimated that the entire week will be necessary to hear all of the applications, and it is hardly probable that a final report will be formulated before the regular session of the Common Council.

Probably no event that has recently happened in local politics has created more talk or been received with more genuine regret than the announced determination of Mr. James R. Gordon, chairman of the Finance Committee, to sever his connection with the Board of Aldermen.

Since it has been definitely ascertained that Mr. Gordon is determined in his purpose to resign, despite the appeals of his friends, both in and out of the body, several names have been mentioned as to who will probably succeed him, but as yet the question has not assumed the magnitude of a sampalgn. The successor to Mr. Gordon will be named by Messrs. Burton and Gunst, representatives of Monroe Ward.
